Information Dissemination

In order to inform our environmental conservation activities for years, we disseminate a lot of information through the internet, public relations magazines and other media.

Environmental home page

Since August 1996, we have been maintaining the home page devoted to environmental topics.

Our home page includes issues such as Kubota global environmental charter, basic direction of environmental corporate management, voluntary environmental action plan, environmental report, and an environment-related fortune-telling column.

The home page introduces our activities, namely "thinking of global environment with people and with nature".

Public relations magazine Global Index

Kubota has various achievements such as desert greening, environmental control plants and others.

"Global Index" was started to inform Kubota's corporate culture deeply.

"Global Index" was named after the index of Kubota's various businesses, which contribute to society extensively.

( We stopped publishing the magazine. We issue the magazine on the internet at present. )
